

Have you been seeing those Medea x Kiko Kostadinov optical illusion bags on Instagram like we have? Must be something in the air, because Belgian designer Alain Gilles just released a whole suite of rugs for the brand YO2 that make it look like you're about to fall down a huge hole to nowhere (in a good way, of course). There's also a series that looks like someone laid a stack of colored corrugated plastic from Lowe's on top — also in a good way!
